

Adding and Organizing Content Rows

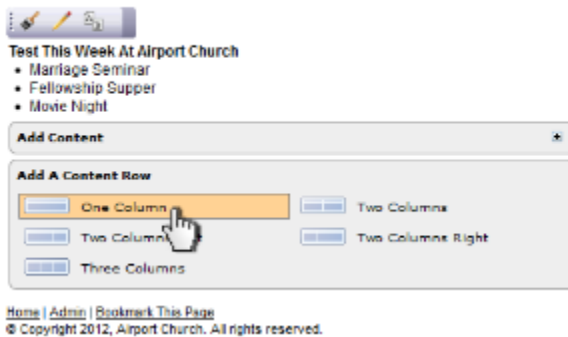

You can add content rows to the main content region of channel pages. Each content row contains content areas. You can create multiple content rows on each channel page. Content rows can contain one, two, or three columns.

Adding Content Rows

Before you can publish content in the main content region of a page, you must add a content row. You can add multiple content rows to pages.

1. Point to Site, then click Channel Manager.
2. Select the channel to which you want to add a content row.
3. Under Actions, click Layout Channel.
4. Look near the bottom of the page. Under Add a Content Row, click a content row layout.
 4. Turn left onto Median Avenue.
 5. Drive 1.7 miles. We're on the right.

Now you're set!

Once you've added a content row, you can add content such as articles and images to your page.

Moving Content Rows

Once you create content rows, you can organize them by moving existing content rows. For example, you want to create a new content row at the top of the page and move older content to the bottom of the page. Once you create the new content row, you can move it to the top of the page.

1. Point to Site, then click Channel Manager.
2. Select the channel that you want to edit.
3. Under Actions, click Layout Channel.
4. On the heading bar for the content row that you want to move, click one of the following:
 - Move Up  button
 - Move Down  button
 - Move to Top  button
 - Move to Bottom  button

Changing the Layout of a Content Row

Once you create a content row, you can change its layout on the Edit Row page. If you select a content row layout that contains fewer columns than the current content row layout contains, Extend places the remaining content items in new content rows. For example, you create a content row that contains two content items. When you change the content row layout, you select the one-column layout. Extend places the second content item in a one-column content row that displays under the original content row.

1. Point to Site, then click Channel Manager.
2. Select the channel that you want to edit.
3. Under Actions, click Layout Channel.
4. On the content row heading bar, click Edit Row.
5. Under Column Layout, select the new content row layout.
6. Click Save.

Removing Content Rows

When you do not want a content row to display, you can remove it from the page. When you delete a content row, you do not delete the content items. You can access them in the Layout Manager.

1. Point to Site, then click Channel Manager.
2. Select the channel that you want to edit.
3. Under Actions, click Layout Channel.
4. On the content row heading bar, click Delete .
