

Log Communication in an Individual's Record

The Communication tab within a record displays a log of all printed or emailed correspondence to an individual. Printed letters or emails are only recorded if the Log Correspondence check box is selected in Options > Settings.

You cannot edit the log; however, you can add notes.

Once the Log Correspondence option is enabled, the next time you click the email button, the print button, or the print button on the preview screen, a log entry window will open where you can enter information that will display on the Communications tab.
